

David Neff

David Neff is editor-in-chief of Christianity Today Media Group and an editorial vice-president of Christianity Today International. He has served at Christianity Today since 1985.

Mr. Neff came to Christianity Today International in 1985, where he has worked on “Christianity Today,” “Books & Culture” and “Christian History & Biography.”

After ministering and teaching religion at Walla Walla College in College Place, Wash., Mr. Neff joined the editorial team at InterVarsity Press, where he edited “HIS” magazine and helped to found the “Journal of Christian Nursing.”

Mr. Neff and his wife live in Wheaton, Illinois. They are the parents of two children and grandparents of three grandchildren.